Hey brother,

How about Indyzen invoicing CFYC for Revones reports for the 40k/mo we discussed? I think that'll be simple. Let me know.

Warm Regards,

Sorry bro I am confused? The $40K is for the development of morfit. Not CFYC

In the phone call, I thought you wanted to keep this separate from Parkridge. So, we could bill $120K to R&R Holdings (not sure what this entity is), and later when we raise money, you could take your $120K back from Parkridge. So if we invoice for Revones reports, which is separate, then it would be a different transaction. Call me, and I'll elaborate.

R&R is the Parent holding company to Parkridge. I wanted to keep money flow directly out of Parkridge until we are clear of any legal issues with Tibco. Once we are certain no legal issues with Tibco then R&R will invoice Parkridge for the money.

No worries brother we can cover in detail the next call but I will have Rowell send Indyzen payment Monday.

Thanks

Randy

No worries, brother! I previously thought R&R Holdings holds CFYC, and that you wanted to pay from outside Parkridge. Now, I got you.

This is what we are agreeing for:

Indyzen is providing $80K/mo worth of services. But will bill only $40K/mo for Phase 1. (Total $120K)

We will launch limited featured Morfit Phase 1 by end of April.

Money will be raised by Parkridge and future development efforts and costs will be agreed separately.

This transaction is independent, and will not affect the agreed equity positions of Randy and Praveen in Parkridge Ltd.

We will get our paperwork done between Indyzen and R&R with the above points clarified.

Are we on the same page?
